Managing Traumatic Brain Injuries in the Workforce: How the Employee and Employer Should Navigate the Return-to-Work Process

1. Course Description

While healthcare clinicians have a basic knowledge and understanding of return-to-play protocols, program curricula might not address proper ergonomics or return-to-work protocols for vocational and non-vocational work force careers. This program will provide a comprehensive review of best practices and evidence-based research to help guide the participant in determining which components are necessary for successful work return. Patients treated by healthcare clinicians with specialized post-concussion return-to-work training are more likely to achieve better outcomes than those treated by clinicians without this training.

Complaint Policy

When a participant, either verbally or in written format, files a grievance and expects action on the complaint, the following actions will be taken.

If the grievance concerns a speaker, the content presented by the speaker, or the style of presentation, the individual filing the grievance will be asked to put his/her comments in written format. The planning committee will then pass on the comments to the speaker, assuring confidentiality.

If the grievance concerns a workshop, its content, level of presentation, or the facilities in which the workshop was offered, the planning committee will mediate and will be the final arbitrators. If the participant requests action, the final arbitrator will follow the standard cancellation and refund policies.

If the grievance requires a resolution, a member of the planning committee will take necessary action.

Please contact ImPACT Applications at training@impacttest.com, (877) 646-7991 ext. 908, or +1 (412) 567-8400 to submit a complaint, or if you have additional questions.
